A little gloss. A complete website.

Final project documentation | 08 October 2026

Project overview

CEERIES Hydra Slay Lip Oil is presented through a complete marketing website with product discovery, the founder story, supplied testimonials, formula storytelling, contact inquiries, social media promotion, an email mockup, and data integration.

Audience and confirmed benefits

Audience: teenagers, college students, young professionals, and beauty enthusiasts interested in trendy lip products, everyday makeup, and stylish beauty essentials.

Confirmed benefits: ultra-hydrating, non-sticky formula; mirror-like shine; subtle tint; soft, nourished lips. The lip oil catalog includes seven individual shades at PHP 199 each. Sets have been removed.

Website approach

Plain HTML, CSS, and JavaScript, with a small Node.js local API. The selected beauty moodboard direction uses real supplied product/model photography, a blush and rose palette, interactive shade selection, and responsive page layouts.

Requirement coverage

Website and integrated digital marketing components

Home / landing page

Company identity, main photograph, tagline, CTA, about section, featured products, campaign promotion, and the original 41.6-second promotional film.

Feature Page

Hydration, non-sticky comfort, mirror-like shine, subtle tint, product visuals, a benefit infographic, and all 13 supplied frequently asked questions.

Products / services

Seven supplied lip oil shades at PHP 199 each, with names, images, descriptions, categories, inquiry-based availability, details, and search.

Contact Us

Name, email, subject, and message fields with validation and save confirmation. Known location and Instagram are shown. Unconfirmed operating details are explicitly marked.

Social marketing

A named product-discovery campaign, target audience, goal, Instagram-style post mockup, supplied promotional art, hashtags, copyable caption, and product CTA.

Email marketing

Viewable promotional email mockup including brand, subject, banner, short message, offer preview, CTA, website/contact/social links, and the supplied original PDF.

API / data

GET operations retrieve products and fictional customer information. Both datasets are displayed on the Project Data page. Forms use validated POST operations locally.

Functionality and verification

What works in the local preview

- Shade selection updates the image, product name, active state, and inquiry target. Galleries show the supplied models and named on-lips looks.

- Product search shows matching results and a resettable empty state. All seven shades cost PHP 199 each.

- Inline details open and close; inquiry links prefill the contact form.

- Contact and newsletter forms validate input and save demonstration records. Newsletter saving requires consent.

- Mobile navigation responds to Escape. Page transitions, button presses, focus feedback, FAQ reveals, and saved-form checkmarks provide motion cues. Reduced-motion preferences are respected.

- The original promotional video loads with controls. Optimized images and self-hosted fonts avoid external asset requests.

- Product and fictional-customer GET endpoints return data. Invalid forms are rejected. Private submissions and development files are not served.

Browser checks

All six pages passed at 1440 x 1000 desktop and 390 x 844 phone viewports, with no horizontal overflow, broken images, browser script errors, or missing public assets. Core interactions and video metadata were verified automatically.

Demonstration boundaries

Forms do not send email or place orders. Local-server submissions save into private storage files; static-hosted forms save in the visitor browser. The customer dataset is explicitly fictional and does not expose form submissions.

Supplied campaign materials contain a 20% discount. The website presents this as a marketing preview; live dates, pricing, and offer terms have not been configured.

Brand story and customer voices

Supplied FAQs and testimonial content

CEERIES lifestyle brand

CEERIES is a Filipino lifestyle brand founded by Riona Karl Cee, offering stylish, practical, and affordable everyday pieces especially for girls. The brand collection includes bags, Hydra Slay Lip Oil, and scrunchies. Website listings currently focus on the seven supplied lip oil shades.

Frequently asked questions

The Formula page presents five concise key FAQs first, with Show more questions revealing all 13 supplied topics, covering the founder, product categories, audience, Philippines-based brand, ordering guidance, affordability, everyday use, seven shades, shade selection, contact, brand differences, values, and quality promise.

Customer testimonials

The homepage includes five supplied testimonials with manual Previous and Next controls. Attributions are Sofia M., 20; Alyssa R., 21; Mika D., 19; Camille T., 22; and Nicole P., 20. User-provided wording is preserved without emojis or invented verification badges.

Pricing and scope update

Hydra Slay Lip Oil is PHP 199 each. The lip oil set, set filter, set inquiry promotion, and set data record were removed. Featured products show Barbie and Queen in equally sized image frames. The homepage has a seven-photo named shade gallery; the product page shows seven supplied named shade looks. A browser-saved cart supports adding shades, quantities, removal, PHP 199 unit-price totals, and an inquiry handoff. No payments or orders are processed. Prices appear in the homepage selector, product cards, inline details, and product data table.
